ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for recording image and an image pickup apparatus perform an operation of storing image data in a storage medium in parallel with an operation of recording image data stored in the storage medium to a recording medium, thereby shortening time from completion of image pickup operation to the time when the recording medium becomes ready for removal.